

Figure 1: A plot showing three data series (green, red, and blue) over time or sequence. The green series shows significant fluctuations, while the red and blue series are relatively stable.